Closing Scenes of the Stay of the Americans in Mexico.

FAREWELL TO DIAZ

Excursions to Places of Interest in the Vicinity of the Capital.

MEXICO, Feb. 8, 1879. The "American Industrial Deputation to Mexico has "come," has "seen," and it only remains to be proven if it shall conquer. Conquer what? A sucous as to its object, which is the increasing and improving of commercial relations between Mexico and the United States, and thereby creating a new and American factories can supply goods of a quality surpassing that of the German and equal to those of the English imports. Why do they not do it? Their prices are competitive, it is true, but the fact also reestablished here, while they do not liquidate and leave the country, discourage especially the es-tablishment of American houses in Mexico. It will, therefore, be readily understood that in order must be established at the capital and forwarding louses at the scaports, backed by capital ample for meeting all freight and duty expenses. The result of the exposition of the comparatively few samples brought by some of the excursionists has satisfied the Mexican public that the United States can furnish very many articles of merchandise at a price cheaper than can be furnished from any European country, and the American exhibitors are certain that they can furnish salable articles at reduced prices and at a

While it is certain that many of the industrial deputation will return with goods to Mexico, and while it is also true that many thousands of dollars worth of orders have been obtained by them, it is the opinion of your correspondent that in order to achieve the result which our overflowing ware-houses in the United States demand American houses or agencies must be established in this sountry. It is stated that one or more gentlemen of the party contemplates returning and establishing a house here, others have been seeking rai road contracts; others again will undoubtedly introduce successfully agricultural inplements, others mining hardware, and so on through the list, but great success needs the protection of American

On the evening of the 4th a great event of the visit occurred so far as the presentation of the excursionsts to Mexican society could make it such. It was nothing less than a grand ball given to the Ameri cans at the Mexican Club Rooms, called the "Lonja. Including those to the visitors there were abou fifteen hundred invitations given out, resulting in crowded halls and banquet rooms. President Diaz and his Cabinet were present, and the flite of the capi-tal, attired in the wealth of the East, the solid mer-chant and the banker, the lawyer, the physician and the statesman combined to make it a representative concourse.

The dancing was, of course, spirited and generally enjoyed, while the music was exceptionally fine and the supper perfectly wonderful. The stock of wines in this market was wonderfully reduced when the festive scenes closed.

The hall was beautifully decked with American and Mexican flags, while a fountain with its colored lets

The hall was beautifully decked with American and Mexican flags, while a fountain with its colored jets and falling waters seen through shrubs and flower branches made the scene one of fairy-like beauty.

Takewell, visit to the American excursionists, although somewhat fatiqued after the exercises of the previous night, paid a ceremonial farewell visit to President Diaz, and through him thanked the people of Mexico for their friendly and hospitable reception. President Diaz formally thanked his visitors for their courtesy, and expressed his satisfaction that their stay in Mexico was so pleasant as they described it. He also said that he was pleased to hear such strong expressions of appreciation of Mexico and her people as had come from his American friends. After a general handshaking the party withdrew.

On the following morning the whole party of

On the following morning the whole party of Americans left the capital for a visit to Puebla with the intention of remaining there at least one day. But I may mention that before they left this city finally as a body a number of excursions were made to places of interest in the surrounding country. About a dozen of the party visuted the mining district of Pachuca, leaving the city by rail for Ometusco, and thence to Pachuca, the capital of the State of Mulalco. the mining district of Pachuca, leaving the city by rail for Ometusco, and thence to Pachuca, the capital of the State of Hidalgo, by stage, a distance of about thirty miles. They were met outside of Pachuca by a committee representing the authorities of the State and were conducted to the Legislative Hall, where they were introduced to the Governor and the Legislature and formally tendered the hospitalities of the place. The entire expenses were defrayed by the authorities in a most generous manner. The excursi-us extended to the beautiful village of Regla, where a waterfall of more than one hundred feet in height passes over a ledge of basalic columns similar to those of Fingal's Cave. Nearer Pachuca the Americans visited the reduction works, which are there mostly upon the "Patio" system. This consists in the mixing of the pulverized ores with sait and quicksilver and the working of the mass, leaving the niver with the quicksilver, from which it is separated by fire. They also visited the new Bonanza mine of the district known as St. Gertrude's, and went under ground for the purpose of being eye witnesses to the extraction of the silver ore.

The following is the extraction of ores in the Pachuca district during the week ending January 25, 1879:—

SAN LUIS POTOSI.

A report has also been rendered by special commissioners of the State of San Luis Potosi, for the incommation of the American deputation. This report is an unusually full and lengthy document, and gives detail descriptions of the different sections of the State, with their productions and special wants in foreign goods. Referring to the single mine known as the Potosi, it is stated that in colonial times the share of the recolucts approprieted to the Crown which.

twenty per cent of the whole yield, amounted to over $30,000,000. This mine has not been worked since the beginning of the century. Suggestions are freely made in the report as to the kind of goods that it would pay to import from the United States into Mexico. Among these are mentioned cassimeres, candles, hardware. The report says:—

There are but two cotton factories in the whole country, and there is room for the establishmout of more factories, with a good demand for the production of their loons, being the centre of a population of over two millions of in-habitants.

The State of San Luis Potosi imports the following ricles from the United States:

Machinery and agricultural implements.

Cotton gins and thrashers. Those that have been introuced into the country up to the present have given satistatory results. The same cannot be said of corn sheliers often presses for balling tatle and cotton are in good demand.

Ploughs, cultivators, shovels, sowing machines and every kind of machinery can find a roady sale.

American sewing machines are proferred above all others. Carpenters, blacksmith's and all kinds of tools will find a ready market. Arms and amunition are also in demand, and pumps, windmills, nails, tacks, shoepers, axes, springs, &c., for carriages, olicioths, scales, balances, all kinds of cooking tuensits or a general assortment of hardware.

All the petroleum, coal, oil, &c., is brought from the United States.

All the petroleum, coal, oil, &c., is brought from the Enited States.

The consumption of cotton in this State is of little or no consequence, on account of there being but one factory in the State, and the little that is consumed is brought from the Laguna de Tahualia.

The following classes of dry goods are consumed here—Fruited cottons of all kinds, white goods, seeks, stockings, Cod liver oil redned and crude, caster oil, ossence of anise, accide acid, caster oil, ossence of anise, accide acid, caster oil, ossence of anise, accide acid, and crude, caster oil, ossence of anise, accide acid, and crude, caster oil, ossence of disease; liquid ammonic, FFF; castoroum, pearl barley, court plaster, carbonate of magnesia, copaine capsules, porous plasters, vernifuges, losenges, sugar-coated pills and sursaparills, hair tonic and Florida water.

HOMEWAND BOUND,

Now, after what has been to most of the party a delightful visit to this strange and beautiful land, the members of the American excursion party take their departure from Mexico. The good stamship City of Mexico, under the command of the brave and genial Captain MacIntosh, lies off the mole at Vera Cruz waiting for them. They will leave the sunny clime of Mexico to return to the ice and snow of their cold northern homes, but they will carry with them a tropical warmth within their hearts for new acquaintances made here, and respect for a people who have been too long separated from Americans by the walls of prejudice and misunderstanding. A hand-some testimonial is to be given by the excursionists to Captain MacIntosh as a mark of their esteem for his qualities as a gentleman and a sailor.

POLITICAL AND BUSINESS AFFAIRS-NAVAL NEWS-ARRIVAL OF HIS ROYAL HIGHNESS PRINCE HENRY OF PRUSSIA-THE TROUBLE BETWEEN CHILI AND THE ABGENTINES-PARAGUAYAN APPAIRS.

MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 1, 1879. . MONTEVIDEO, Jan. 1, 1879.

Our port is quite gay with foreign war vessels, as at this season they leave the dangerous and diseased ports of Brazil and pass the hot summer months in our benign climate. There are besides the frigate Hartford and sloop Essex, of the United States navy the British frigate Volage and two gunboats, Brazilian corvette Amazonas and four gunboats, two Spanish, one Italian and one French men-of-war now nchored in our roads.

The German frigate Prinz Adelbert arrived here on the 22d ult. She brought a distinguished visitor to our shores in the person of His Royal Highness Prince Henry of Prussia, the second son of the Crown Prince and grandson of the Emperor William of Germany and Queen Victoria. This is his first cruise, and as cadet on board he performs the same duty as the other junior officers. Although only a youth of fourteen, he shows a fondness for gay society, and during his stay here lived constantly on shore, passing through a continuous round of enjoyments and fetes. The Frinz Adelbert sailed on the 30th ult. for Valparaise via the Straits of Magellan, thence via Callao and Panama to her station in the China

From advices recently received from Punta Arenas From advices recently received from Punta Arenas (Straits of Magellan) it appears that the Chili authorities at the time of surrendering the captured American bark Devonshire neglected to send the ship's register and papers from Santiago, and the vessel has been obliged to remain an unnecessarily long time waiting for those important documents. The captain having written to the United States Consul at this port as to the legality of going to sea without them, the Consul replied that he was, under the circumstances, perfectly justified in doing so.

NEWS PIOM PARAGUAY.

The celebrated Paraguayan revolutionist, Don Cirilo Rivarolo, ex-President of the Republic, who for the past twenty months has been constantly threatening the peace of that country from his fastnesses in the forests and mountains, presented himself to the government on the 24th ult., availing himself of the amnesty offered. This is the best proof of the confidence which Schor Barreiro, the new President, inspires, and it is expected that many others of the emigrated political Paraguayans will follow Rivarolo's example.

THE EXTRADITION QUESTION-FINANCES OF THE EMPIRE-THE NATIONAL DEBT INCREASING.

Rio Janeiro, Jan. 12, 1879.

United States Charge d'Affaires, Mr. White, produced quite an excitement here when it became known, and the government was interpellated in both chambers and warmly censured by the opposition and even by many of its supporters, but took the ground that the absence of a treaty of extradition was no bar to such surrenders of criminals and was always practised by friendly governments. The excitement was the greater, as it was falsely asserted that Conyngham was very harshly treated, and had been put in irons immediately on board the packet.

The bill granting to the Madeira and Mamoré Rail road seven per cent guarantee of interest on £400,000, to come into effect as soon as £500,000 has been spent on the construction of the line, passed in the Chamber of Deputies on the lith, and is gone up for the Emperor's signature, which is a matter of

for the Emperor's signature, which is a matter of course.

Pinances.

The report of the Minister of Finance has at last reached the public in part. The next year's deficit to be filled is 29,119,593 milrets, after fixing the estimates at sums sufficient to cover all probable expenditures and do away with the supplementary credits opened, in the absence of the Legislature, to fill deficiencies in the appropriations. But, besides 121,119,593 milrets of ordinary expenditure, there will also be needed next year 23,882,090 milrets for railroads, colonization, &c., if the projects already authorized be carried out as intended. As for the new taxation to fill the deficit, that, as is usual here, is left to the Chamber of Deputies to propose, but he suggests a tax on uncultivated lands, to enable the expert taxes to be gradually done away with. His Excellency also says that the creation of banking relations between Brazil and the United States would be most advantageous to the interests of both countries, and would enable Brazil to settle its accounts with London by drafts on New York. The national debt of all kinds is 747,388,685 milreds, against 700,488,744 milreds in 1877. The government paper money included in the above figures is 181,279,057 milreds, against 149,347,859 milreds, the Treasury having issued only a little under 32,000,000 of the 69,000,000 authorized by the decree of April, 1877.

THE LATE KING AND THE POPE-CELEBRATION OF A SERVICE IN HONOR OF THE KING'S MEM-

The solemn funeral service in honor of Victor Emmanuel II., organized by the municipality of Rome took place this morning at the Church of Santa Marie degli Angeli, a building constructed by the genius of Diocletian. The requiem mass was celebrated by the clergy of the Church, the Cardinal Vicar's permission indicating a botter understanding between the Quir-inal and the Vatican than heretofore. Indeed it had been rumored that the Pope intended to authorize the consecration of a chapel in the Quirinal Palace for the exclusive use of the Queen, but according to more correct statements it would not be in the power of His Holiness to remove the interdiet which has oppressed the palace since 1870 without a formal decree emanating from the Holy See. With such conciliatory dispositions, however, it is to be hoped that the desired result may be obtained ere long. Lee XIII. has a great number of demands continually brought before him, and it is difficult for him to satisfy them all. One of the most urgent is that advanced by the fervent admirers of Plus IX., who are ardently desirous of the immediate canonization of the late Pope. As this would be an inconsiderate realization of a most important step, involving the greatest responsibility in the present state of the Church, besides being in direct opposition to the regulations laid down for the admission of new saints to the honors of the calendar by Pope Innecent XI., the hesitation of Lee XIII. to make any innovations on customary canon law appears to be fully justified. the consecration of a chapel in the Quirinal Palace

A PIUTE DOCTOR.

For some weeks past Captain Bob, the Piute chief, has been lying very low at his wickiup, in the the minimum quantity of skin and bones and his life is despaired of. He has been attended in his has long been recognized as a medical authority among the Piutes. His treatment consists in the administering of herb decoctions and incantations.

and smeking out the wigwam every two hours is considered about the right thing. This course of treatment has been pursued by the Piute medicine considered about the right thing. This course of treatment has been pursued by the Piute medicine man for some time, notwithstanding which Bob is rapidly nearing his earthly end. The Piutes have been thrown into a state of excitement over the prospects of Bob's early demise, and there is weeping and lamentation from Walker River to Pyramid Lake. On Sunday night last the excitement culminated in a number of indans assembling at Silver City and trying Moses, the medicine man, for majpractice. About two hundred Indians were present, and Moses was charged with attempting to poison Captain Bob. If this had been proven he would have been stoned to death on the spot. His defence was that during the course of his professional career in Novada he had only killed three men, and if Bob should die he would only be the fourth man to succumb to his medicinal treatment. Under the Piute law he had a right to lay five patients under the daisies before following them himself. This seemed to have a decided effect on the tribe, and the older members grunted approval. Some one then suggested that Moses be killed immediately, as it might have a beneficial effect upon the patient. After considerable parleying it was decided to give the Doctor another chance, and if Bob died Moses should be executed in due form. When an Indian was informed by a Chronicle reporter that there were some doctors in Virginia who had been killing one man a month regularly for some years he expressed his unbounded astonishment and passed some very profane and uncomplimentary remarks on the stupidity of a race which would submit to such imposition. At last accounts Bob had not long to live.
